

FORTHCOMING CORTH EVENT

Date: Friday 28th April 2017

Professor Chris McKevitt

(Professor of Social Science & Health, King's College London)

'The Translational Urge in the English Health Economy'

Translational research refers to the goal of bringing scientific discoveries made at the laboratory 'bench' to the 'bedside', where biomedical treatments are administered to patients. In this seminar, I will be sending signals from my embedded position in a London translational research infrastructure whose aim is 'to turn scientific discoveries into better
